Hi, we've just got back from a bit of a trip round England by bike. We spent quite a bit of time down in Cornwall. The weather was dreadful throughout June, and wasn't much better in July. The tent took quite a battering in the storms a couple of times - I was pleased it was a four season one - we got it from Sierra Designs in america - pretty sturdy. Still had a good holiday, but the patter of raindrops on the tent became a bit dull after a few weeks! Roll on next year, although i'm still hoping for a warmer september and we'll get away then for a few days perhaps.
