went camping last yr to whitepod in switzerland ...the coolest camping experience ever! they are the james bond experince of camping set with views to die for. They have cute little wood burning stoves and lovely interiors - this is the camping experience for a partner who is unsure about sleeping in a tent! it will totally change their mind! they also offer husky sleighing, skiing, paragliding - delicious food and pampering experiences, do check out thier website. I will send you some photos of the tents via your contacts page... great website by the way!

Wow, these whitepods look so cool! A bit different from our battered old tent. Probably very expensive, and I think I'm probably more of a back to basics sort of girl, but looks a fab weekend get away perhaps.

Would love to go dog sledding.

Does the tent have a stove in it? looks strangely space-age.
